28TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Fr. Steve's Quotes for Consideration:

This week, I am going to allow for one of our saints who had a tremendous gift of wisdom and spiritual insight to speak to us about detachment from self and the importance of developing the virtue of humility in our lives. St. Teresa of Avila lived during the 1500's and founded a religious order of nuns called the Carmelites. The Church celebrates her feast day next Saturday, on October 15. One of her most famous writings is called, "The Way of Perfection." What follows is an excerpt from that book. God bless you!- Fr. Steve

"It will be a great help if we keep constantly in our thoughts the vanity of all things and the rapidity with which they pass away, so that we may withdraw our affections from things which are so trivial and fix them upon what will never come to an end. This may seem a poor kind of help but it will have the effect of greatly fortifying the soul. With regard to small things, we must be very careful, as soon as we begin to grow fond of them, to withdraw our thoughts from them and turn them to God. His Majesty will help us to do this ... it remains for us to become detached from our own selves and it is a hard thing to withdraw from ourselves and oppose ourselves, because we are very close to ourselves and love ourselves very dearly.

It is here that true humility can enter, for this virtue and that of detachment from self, I think, always go together. They are two sisters, who are inseparable. You must embrace them, and love them, and never be seen without them. Oh, how sovereign are these virtues, mistresses of all created things, empresses of the world, our deliverers from all the snares and entanglements laid by the devil, virtues so dearly loved by our Teacher, Christ, Who was never for a moment without them! He that possesses them can safely go out and fight all the united forces of hell and the whole world and its temptations. Let him fear none, for his is the kingdom of the Heavens. There is none whom he need fear, for he cares nothing if he loses everything, nor does he count this as loss: his sole fear is that he may displease his God and he begs Him to nourish these virtues within him lest he lose them through any fault of his own."
